Hey there, Neighbor

We at The Redress Movement hope that you've had a fulfilling (and warm) start to the New Year. Last month, we talked about hitting the ground running in the New Year, and we're excited to share that we're pulling it off. 🤪

---

To start, we'd like to highlight several developments at the federal level that have recently come from the White House, and a report from the Joint Center for Housing Studies. We believe that these four items are going to be crucial to our work at The Redress Movement, and that these are significant steps in the right direction of securing affordable housing for those in need, and repairing generational harm caused by segregation in our country.

1) Tenants Bill of Rights.

- 2) Decrease in Homelessness #'s by the Housing First Approach.
- 3) The Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing rule.
- 4) JCHS Report on Financial Distress in Racially Concentrated Neighborhoods.

Make sure to check out these developments and executive actions if you're interested in reparative policy making, and if you're interested in learning more about the Affirmatively Furthering Fair Housing rule, click here to check out this News Wrap we just published on our site!

McMillan in Denver Archives*

In January of 2023, two of The Redress Movement's researchers, Bo McMillan and Malik Jackson, headed off to Denver, CO to touch ground with Kevin Patterson, our Denver Field Organizer. While in Denver, they dived into archival documents that traced the history of segregation in Colorado to inform and research upcoming Denver field campaigns.

While in Denver, they submitted written testimony to the State Legislature. Using research they collected during the trip, they wrote out their support for proposed legislation that would curb conflicts of interest in Colorado's metro districts.

As always, THANK YOU for being a part of our Movement.

We can't wait to show you more of what we have planned for 2023.
