Hey there, Neighbor!

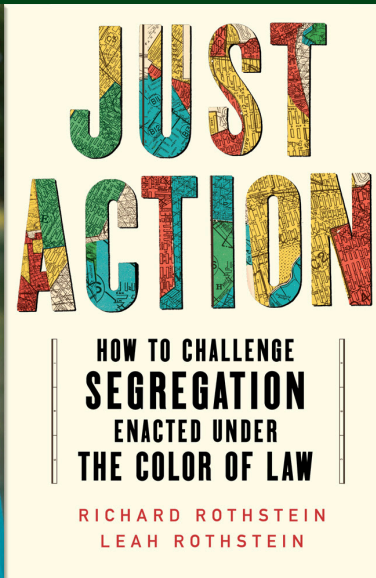

We know it's been a minute, but we at The Redress Movement have been heads-down and gearing up for phase two of our Movement's mission. I won't say much beyond that, but rest assured we've got some big things coming your way in the next couple months.

If that caught your attention, (and I hope it did) consider checking out Richard and Leah Rothstein's new book, Just Action. Let's just say it covers some things coming down the pipeline. 🙄

"The Color of Law brilliantly recounted how government at all levels created segregation. Just Action describes how we can begin to undo it."

Just Action book events in a city near you!

Over the course of the next couple months, Richard Rothstein and Leah Rothstein are hitting the road to promote and discuss this new book. They'll be touching ground in cities all across the country, but I'd like to highlight the events in Milwaukee, Charlotte, and Denver.

Our organizers have been hard at work organizing these events alongside Richard and Leah Rothstein, the venues, and with the Redress community they have been developing over the last year.

Next up... a heartfelt THANK YOU to our base!

To start, we've had hundreds of folks sign our YES to Redress petition. That is hundreds of folks who have said they want to do more to repair the generational damage caused by racial segregation. This petition is the first step in building the people power and public will needed to address these issues, and y'all have not disappointed. If you haven't signed yet, it's never too late.

Last, but most certainly not least, we have reached more than 50 recurring donors to our Movement.

Read that again. We've got more than 50 folks who have decided to fund our movement on a monthly basis, and we are floored by their generosity. From the bottom of all of our hearts -

THANK YOU!

We would not be able to accomplish this work without you all. Our grassroots donors help fund our field efforts, our digital capacity, and our research efforts. In short, every dollar goes to every facet of this organization, and helps us aim higher and higher, so thank you to all of you who have decided to strengthen us in this this way.

...and that's all for now, folks. Keep your eyes peeled for some big updates from us in the coming months. Our work is just getting started, and we can't wait for you all to see what we've been planning.

Enjoy your start to the summer!
